Please join us for a special Alaskan tour created just for the Western Academic Leadership Forum

Friday April 24th, 2009

Departure time: 12:30pm
Tour Price: $99 per person, all-inclusive
Pickup Location: Hotel Captain Cook, 5th Avenue Entrance

A professional Alaskan guide will transport you down the Turnagain Arm, one of the most scenic drives in the country. Once you reach Girdwood, an aerial tram will take you to the top of Mt. Alyeska for lunch at Seven Glaciers Restaurant. Seven Glaciers is a AAA Four-Diamond winning restaurant (see the menu on page 2).

After lunch, you’ll have time for visiting the Roundhouse Museum and taking in the views from the top of the mountain before descending the tram to continue the tour.

The next stop is the Alaska Wildlife Conservation Center; a drive-through animal park and non-profit organization specializing in animal rescue and rehabilitation, habitat study, and recently a special project to reintroduce wood bison into the wilds of Alaska. You’ll see moose, elk, caribou, bison, owls, musk-ox, and more!

When you’re done taking in the splendor of Alaska’s wild animal residents, you’ll head back to town, making photo stops and looking for animals along the way to the end of a fun-filled day.
